b. Insofar as Defendant's violations of the WVCCPA are deemed to be "willful," pursuant to West Virginia Code §46A-5-103(4) such conduct is, as a matter of law, criminal conduct punishable by fine and/or imprisonment;

Defendant's debt collection activities interject commercial speech directly into Plaintiffs' home against their wishes. Defendant's right to engage in this manner of speech is in direct conflict with Plaintiffs' right to privacy in their home. Where these two rights are in the balance, it is the right to privacy that generally carries more weight. See, e.g., Rowan v. United States Post Office Dept, 397 U.S. 728, 90 S. Ct. 1484, 25 L. Ed. 2d 736

(1970) (upholding a law prohibiting advertisers from sending mail to persons who have requested to be removed from mailing lists); Nat'l Fed'n of the Blind v. FTC, 420 F.3d 331 (4th Cir. 2005) (upholding restrictions on telemarketing calls by charitable organizations); *Mainstream Mktg. Servs. v. CIVIL ACTION NO. 17-C-360(D)
Judge Andrew G. Dimlich

CENTRAL FLORIDA INVESTMENTS, INC.
d/b/a Westgate Resorts Ltd.,

DEFENDANT

MOTION TO AMEND COMPLAINT

On June 27, 2017, Plaintiff filed their Complaint in this matter. Since filing, Plaintiff has determined that the Complaint needs to be amended to better conform to the facts and evidence in this matter pursuant to Rule 15 of the West Virginia Rules of Civil Procedure. As stated therein, leave should be freely given when justice so requires as is the case here.

After filing their Complaint, discovery commenced. In response to Discovery, Defendant produced records evidencing approximately 159 collection calls placed to the Plaintiffs after a request was made to Defendant to cease further communication. Further, the records produced indicated that an auto-dialer was used to place the calls. Therefore, it appears that Plaintiffs now have a claim for violations of the Telephone Consumer Protection Act, 47 U.S.C. §227 (“TCPA”) which restricts the use of auto-dialers to communicate with consumers.

In the case at bar, justice requires that Plaintiffs be given the opportunity to amend their Complaint. No prejudice would be suffered by Defendant because the claims enumerated above (the extremely high call volume despite repeated requests to cease, and violations of the TCPA) arise from the same conduct that is alleged to have been illegal in the original complaint: Defendant's attempts to collect an alleged debt from the Plaintiffs.

For the reasons stated herein, Plaintiffs humbly request the Court GRANT their Motion to amend and provide Plaintiffs ten days from the entry of the appropriate order to file their Amended Complaint and serve the same upon Defendant.

DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO ENFORCE STIPULATION LIMITING DAMAGES¹

On July 16, 2018, this Court Granted Plaintiffs' Motion to Amend Complaint, which was filed on July 12, 2018. In that Motion to Amend, Plaintiffs represent that they intend to make an amendment to include a claim under the "Telephone Consumer Protection Act, 47 U.S.C. §227" (TCPA). Plaintiffs allege that such an amendment is permissible because "[n]o prejudice would be suffered by Defendant" because claims under the TCPA "arise from the same conduct that is alleged . . . in the original complaint." Pl.'s Mot. to Amend at 1-2.

Defendants, in recognition of the liberal scope of West Virginia Rule of Civil Procedure 15(a), do not disagree and do not object to an amendment for the inclusion of TCPA claims. However, upon request by e-mail, Plaintiffs' counsel provided Defendants' counsel with a proposed Amended Complaint, which is attached as Exhibit A.² In this same e-mail, Plaintiffs' counsel advised that in addition to assertion of claims under the TCPA, Plaintiffs intended to remove their damages limiting stipulation. Id. Accordingly, while Defendants do not object to the amendment for in inclusion of TCPA claims, Defendants do object to the removal of the jurisdictional damages stipulation.

Noticeably absent from the proposed Amended Complaint are the binding damages stipulations that appear in Plaintiffs' original Complaint:

PLAINTIFF(S) AND ATTORNEYS FOR PLAINTIFF(S) AGREE TO BE BOUND BY THE FOLLOWING STIPULATIONS SO LONG AS THIS CASE REMAINS IN WEST VIRGINIA CIRCUIT COURT OR AN ARTICLE III COURT, THE PLAINTIFF SHALL NEITHER SEEK NOR ACCEPT AN AMOUNT GREATER THAN $75,000.00 IN THIS CASE, INCLUDING ANY AWARD OF ATTORNEY'S FEES, BUT EXCLUDING INTEREST AND COSTS. Compare Id. at 8-9 to Exhibit A. The removal of the stipulations is improper and should not be permitted. Plaintiffs' Motion to Amend omits any reference to removal of the stipulations. Nonetheless, Plaintiffs now advise they intend to remove this binding stipulation. This is not permissible. Indeed, Plaintiffs, and their counsel, by their own words, have agreed that "so long as this case remains in West Virginia Circuit Court or an Article III Court, the Plaintiff shall neither seek nor accept an amount greater than $75,000.00 in this case . . ." Compl. at 7-9, supra.

Courts are clear that such stipulations—which are used to avoid federal diversity jurisdiction³—are valid and enforceable and truly bind the parties making the stipulation. Bailey v. SLM Corp., Civil Action No. 5:11-cv-00715, 2012 WL 1598059, at *5 (S.D. W. Va. May 7, 2012) ("[A] plaintiff may attempt to defeat diversity jurisdiction . . . by entering into a unilateral binding stipulation limiting its recovery to an amount lower than the jurisdictional requirement provided for by 28 U.S.C. 1332."); McCoy v. Erie Ins. Co., 147 F. Supp. 2d 481, 485 (S.D. W. Va. 2001) (citing Hicks v. Herbert, 122 F. Supp. 2d 699, 701 (S.D. W. Va. 2000) (To limit the amount in controversy for jurisdictional purposes, the stipulation must be "a formal, truly binding, pre-removal stipulation signed by counsel and his client explicitly limiting recovery.")) (emphasis added). Hence, Plaintiffs successfully precluded federal diversity jurisdiction and the case remains in Raleigh County Circuit Court based on the binding, pre-removal stipulation.

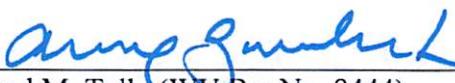

Plaintiffs affirmed and stipulated to—"neither seek nor accept an amount greater than $75,000.00 in this case." Compl. at 7. (emphasis added). Quite simply, Plaintiffs cannot now absolve themselves of this stipulation. See supra Bailey, McCoy, Hicks. Contrary to Plaintiffs' representations that the amendments will cause Defendant "no prejudice", the full-breadth of the intended amendment, which appears to include an attempt at removal of the jurisdictional stipulation, prejudices Defendants because it seeks to remove a binding damages stipulation, which has been and continues to be employed in this action to avoid federal diversity jurisdiction.

³ The purpose and desire of this stipulation is apparent: Plaintiffs wanted to avoid federal diversity jurisdiction. Bailey at *4 ("there is no dispute that in this district a plaintiff may attempt to defeat diversity jurisdiction in this Court by entering into a unilateral binding stipulation limiting its recovery to an amount lower than the jurisdictional requirement provided by 28 U.S.C. § 1332."). (emphasis added).

CONCLUSION

WHEREFORE, Defendants respectfully request that this Court deny any attempt by Plaintiffs to remove their binding damages stipulation from this action, through an Amended Complaint or otherwise, and Order that the binding stipulation not to seek or accept damages over $75,000.00 is valid and remains in effect.⁴

Respectfully submitted,

⁴ Defendants' enforcement of the binding stipulation should in no manner be construed to reflect their valuation of this lawsuit. Indeed, Defendants are simply enforcing the previously agreed—and relied upon—stipulation of Plaintiffs to ensure the sanctity of procedural safeguards and avoid any precedent that may deteriorate the same.

Civil Action No. 17-C-360-D
Honorable Andrew G. Dimlich
Trial Date: July 22, 2019

ORDER DENYING MOTION TO ENFORCE STIPULATION; GRANTING MOTION TO WITHDRAW PRIOR MOTION AND CONTINUING TRIAL

On September 10, 2018, this matter came on for a hearing on the Defendant's Motion to Enforce Stipulation Limiting Damages. The plaintiff appeared by counsel, Steven R. Broadwater, Esq., and the defendant appeared by counsel, Alex J. Zurbuch, Esq. The court had reviewed the entire file and entertained oral argument of counsel, upon which this decision is based.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The facts are not in dispute. On June 27, 2017, plaintiffs filed their complaint in the Circuit Court of Raleigh County alleging various violations of state consumer protection and debt collection laws. Prior to filing suit, the parties entered into a stipulation dated June 23, 2017, that essentially stated plaintiffs would not seek nor accept an amount greater than Seventy Five Thousand Dollars ($75,000) so long as the case remains in a state court.

On July 12, 2018, plaintiffs served a Motion to Amend Complaint on counsel for defendants. Defendants did not oppose the motion and by order dated July 16, 2018 plaintiffs' motion to amend complaint was granted.

Thereafter, On July 31, 2018, defendants, having reviewed a draft of the amended complaint filed a Motion for Clarification of the Court's Order granting the Motion to Amend Complaint. On August 30, 2018, defendants filed a motion to withdraw the motion for clarification and in its stead filed a motion to enforce the stipulation limiting damages to Seventy Five Thousand Dollars ($75,000.00).

The parties concur that with the amendment of the complaint both sides will require additional time for discovery and that a modified scheduling order will be required.

ISSUE TO BE DETERMINED

Does the original stipulation bind the parties when an amended complaint becomes the complaint?

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The defendant does not oppose the filing of the amended complaint. However, the defendant argues that the stipulation of the cap on damages to should remain in full force and effect and that plaintiffs should be bound by the prior stipulation.

Plaintiffs' position is that the amended complaint is the product of revelations realized as the result of the discovery process.

Rule 15 of the West Virginia Rules of Civil Procedure governs the amendments of pleadings, including complaints. Rule 15 embodies the policy of deciding cases on the basis of their merits. The motion to amend a complaint should be granted if the adverse party is not prejudiced and given sufficient opportunity to address the issues raised by the amended complaint. Brooks v. Isinghood, 213 W.Va. 675, 584 S.E.2d 531 (W.Va. 2003). Here, defendants concede that the complaint can be amended. The sole prejudice is the loss of the benefit of the stipulation executed by plaintiffs wherein the case would remain in state court as opposed to being removed to federal court.

At oral argument two federal cases were raised by plaintiffs' counsel. In Young v. City of Mount Rainier, 238 F.3d 567 (4th Cir. 2001) it was noted that an amended complaint supersedes the original and renders it of no legal effect. Fawzy v. Wauquiez Boats, Inc., 873 F.3d 451 (4th Cir. 2017) primarily focused on procedural issues in the federal district court. A motion to dismiss was granted. The court was unaware that plaintiff filed an amended complaint approximately one hour prior to its ruling. For purposes of the case at bar the 4th Circuit's notation that a dismissal of the original complaint was of no moment given that a properly filed amended complaint became the operative pleading in the case and issues raised in the amended complaint had never been ruled upon by the district court.

It is abundantly clear to this court that a properly filed amended complaint becomes the sole complaint upon which the case will proceed. As there was no opposition to the filing of an amended complaint by plaintiffs it is clear that the amended complaint is the one to which defendants will answer. The critical issue therefore becomes enforcement of the parties' stipulation.

Authority in West Virginia for setting aside stipulations is sparse. Counsel for both parties concede that there is no case law directly on point with regard to the specific issue now before the court (e.g. whether a stipulation can be enforced when a plaintiff files an amended complaint based upon information received in discovery). However, two cases have addressed the issue of the enforcement of stipulations.

State ex rel. Crafton v. Burnside, 207 W.Va. 74, 528 S.E. 2d 768, (W.Va. 2000) involved a stipulation of counsel on the issue of case management involving a bifurcated proceeding.

Plaintiffs' counsel moved to set aside the stipulation and the circuit court denied the motion. On appeal the West Virginia Supreme Court stated, “[i]t has been said that agreements of counsel made during the process of a cause of action have never been treated as binding contracts to be absolutely enforced, but as mere stipulations which may be set aside in the sound discretion of the court when such action may be taken without prejudice to either party. Burnside at p. 772. On that basis, the Supreme Court reversed the circuit court.

In West Virginia Department of Transportation v. Veach, 239 W.Va. 1, 799 S.E.2d 78 (W.Va. 2017) the West Virginia Supreme Court discussed setting aside a stipulation as to mineral rights. The court noted the contract law guidelines for setting aside a stipulation, i.e. fraud, accident or mistake. The alternative addressed by the Court focused on restoring both parties to the same condition as when the agreement was entered. In this case our Supreme Court denied that the circuit court erred when it failed to set aside certain stipulations to which previous counsel for the Department of Transportation, Division of Highways (“DOH”) had previously agreed. In reaching their decision the Court states, “[a]ccordingly, we now hold that a circuit court is afforded wide discretion in determining whether or not a party should be relieved of a stipulation, and such decision should not be set aside absent an abuse of power.” Veach at p. 85.

With the amended complaint now becoming the operative pleading, it appears that the parties can be placed in the same position they were in prior to the stipulation being made. Defendants have demonstrated no prejudice. With no limitation on damages the defendants must determine if they wish to keep the matter in state court or remove the matter to the federal court. In addition, when the case law addressing the enforcement of stipulations is read in conjunction with the very liberal interpretation given to motions to amend complaints, the court is of the opinion that it cannot limit the manner in which the plaintiff pursues this litigation. Nor does this court think it can prevent the plaintiff from omitting a previous stipulation in an amended complaint that is based upon information received during the discovery process.

Therefore, defendants' motion to enforce the stipulation is DENIED.

As the amended complaint is now before the court and the time for defendants to respond has not yet expired it is clear that the current Scheduling Order, including a trial date cannot stand.

It is ORDERED that the above captioned matter is CONTINUED and the revised scheduling order is in effect.

It is ORDERED that defendants' motion to withdraw the Motion for Clarification is GRANTED.

Defendant's OBJECTION to the Court's findings and rulings are noted.

The Clerk of this Court shall mail attested copies of this ruling to:
